

Karger Books again Honoured at the BMA Medical Book Competition

S. Karger Publishers receives one 'Highly Commended' and two 'Commended' awards for publications in Respiratory Medicine, Basic and Clinical Sciences as well as Basis of Medicine.

'In the face of the impressive international competition at the BMA we are particularly pleased to have again been awarded several prizes', said Thomas and Gabriella Karger, 3rd and 4th generation of Karger Publishers.

Diffuse Parenchymal Lung Disease, a comprehensive guide to diagnosis and management of all aspects of this multi-faceted condition, received a 'Highly Commended' in the Respiratory Medicine category, where a Karger publication has also been singled out previously.

Drug Hypersensitivity was awarded 'Commended' in the Basic and Clinical Sciences section, the fifth Karger publication in recent years to win an award in this category. 'Commended' status was also given to the fourth edition of the long-standing bestseller Using and Understanding Medical Statistics, a classic in the Basis of Medicine field.

About Karger

S. Karger Publishers is an international medical and scientific publisher with a particular focus on research and translational issues. Based in Basel, Switzerland, the company publishes more than 75 peer-reviewed journals and 150 books per year and has 280 employees the world over, including the US, China and the Middle East. The family-run publishing house has been committed to producing books and journals of the highest standards for over a century.